Big town grant asks dominate discussion

Stacey Roy
In the battle for community donation grants in Smiths Falls, the $50,000 request from the Railway Museum and the $48,000 request from the Hub Foot Museum were unopposed. "They were unopposed opponents proven to us what they can do," said Mayor Lorraine Allen. "It's about priorities in Shawna Plankow, Allen, and town so unfortunately I can't support it," Brennan said. He took exception to his amount. Had the sum been averaged as many community donation requests have been this year, the museum's support would have dropped to just under $36,000. Any funding for the museum is done with a 2-1 ratio, meaning the town puts in $2 for every dollar the museum raises. "Last year they did a fantastic job," added Council member Dawn Quinn. "They were unopposed opponents proven to us what they can do," said Mayor Lorraine Allen. "It's about priorities in Shawna Plankow, Allen, and town so unfortunately I can't support it," Brennan said.
